MRI SCAN OF THE RIGHT SHOULDER

HISTORY: History of MVA.

TECHNIQUE: Non-contrast MRI of the right shoulder was performed utilizing multiplanar and multisequence acquisition.

FINDINGS:

The visualized osseous structures are intact. There is no evidence of fracture, dislocation, or bone marrow abnormalities to be suspicious for bone contusions, stress fractures, or acute trabecular microfractures. AC joint impingement is demonstrated.

There is minimal fluid in the subdeltoid bursa and mild fluid in the joint capsule compatible with tenosynovitis/bursitis. There is no communication between these two fluid compartments across the conjoined tendon. There is increased signal in the myotendinous supraspinatus. There is no evidence of tendon laxity or retraction. There are no appreciable surface defects. In the given clinical setting, the findings are compatible with myotendinous supraspinatus strain/interstitial tear with associated tenosynovitis/bursitis.

The subscapularis and biceps tendons and the biceps anchor are intact. The visualized portions of the labrum are unremarkable. There is no evidence of labral tear.

There is an incompletely imaged, approximately 8 x 4cm right axillary cyst. If clinically warranted, follow up site-specific sonography should be considered for further evaluation.

IMPRESSION:

Presence of AC joint impingement.

Findings compatible with myotendinous supraspinatus strain/interstitial tear with associated tenosynovitis/bursitis as discussed in the body of the report.

The visualized portions of the labrum are intact.

No acute osseous abnormalities.

Incompletely imaged, approximately 8 x 4cm right axillary cyst. If clinically warranted, follow up site-specific sonography should be considered for further evaluation.
